Let's Start!

So many planes! So many suitcases!

Learning Outcome

Describe rooms, homes and objects in buildings in common social and work situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about travel and transportation.
- I can compare two things.
- I can make and respond to requests.

Ask your partner:

- Do you pack a lot of things to go on holiday?
- Do you prefer to travel light?

Let's Explore!

Sally's bag is too big for the conveyor belt! She should travel light next time!

* When you "travel light", you only pack what you need.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: Hi, I have another question.
Airport attendant: Certainly. What can I do for you?
Sally: I can't find my bag anywhere!
Airport attendant: Let me see ... your bag should be at baggage carousel number 8.
Sally: I know. I looked and looked, but it's not on the conveyor belt.
Airport attendant: Could you describe it for me?
Sally: Sure. It's a big red bag. It has a brown tag with my name on it.
Airport attendant: Here's a red bag on the floor. Is that it?
Sally: No. This one is quite small. Mine is bigger.
Airport attendant: Ok ... In that case, it could be at the oversized luggage carousel.
Sally: Can you tell me where that luggage carousel is?
Airport attendant: Of course. It's across the hall. What did you pack in your bag?
Sally: A lot of presents for my family, souvenirs from Africa, that kind of thing ...
Airport attendant: Is there anything fragile? The handlers aren't the most careful in the country.
Sally: Oh no!
Airport attendant: You should put breakable items in your carry-on next time. It's safer.

Let's Practice!

Let's find Sally's suitcase! Is it this one? Is it big enough?
